EUPTs for Pesticide Residues

According to legislation 396/2005/EC, all laboratories in the framework of official controls on pesticide residues shall participate in European Union Proficiency Tests (EUPTs) for pesticide residues. The EUPTs are organized on behalf of the European Commission for pesticide residues in food and feed.

How to Register for a Proficiency Test

You're logged in with user ID: JohnDoe

While being logged-in to the EUPT-Registration website, the system knows to which pesticide lab you are assigned to. This information is drawn from the official EURL Lab Network-database (hosted at EURL DataPool). If available, additional information (e.g. lab contact data; PT sample delivery address and PT invoice address; lab employees which are registered in EURL Lab Network-database) is used in order to facilitate the registration procedure for you.

Follow the next steps to fill the registration form for a specific proficiency test:

1. Click on the "Registration"-button. Here you find a list of proficiency tests that are currently offered by the EURLs.
2. Select a proficiency test by clicking on the appropriate "Register"-button. If a proficiency test - in which you would like to participate - is NOT listed, please contact the administrators: Email to administrator.
3. Carefully check and update the requested data. Please consider: DG-SANTE expects from all obliged labs that do not intend to participate in a proficiency test to give an explanation. In this case, enter your explanation into the field "Explanation (if no participation intended)".
4. Submit the registration form for the selected proficiency test by clicking on the "Submit"-button at the bottom of the form. The system will send you a confirmation email for your registration.

What happens after submission of the registration form?

After the registration deadline, the organiser carefully checks your registration data and sends you a final confirmation email for participation.

4. Click on the button „Register“ to open the registration-form for EUPT XY xy (e.g. in this case EUPT-CF12).

The legal obligation to participate in the different EUPTs arises from:

- Art. 38 of Reg. (EC) 2017/625 (for all OfLs analyzing for pesticide residues within the framework of official controls of food or feed)
- Art. 101 (1) (a) of Reg. (EC) 2017/625 (for all NRLs)

According to the information in our official Lab-Network-database (hosted in EURL DataPool), your laboratory is considered as obliged to participate in an EUPT. In the column “Participation of your Lab” you can find out in which EUPTs your lab is obliged to participate. If you consider this classification not correct, please contact your NRL and put eurl-srm@cvas.bwl.de on the cc list.

DG-SANTE expects from labs not intending to participate in a certain EUPT in which they are obliged to participate, to provide explanations. Details on how to provide this explanation are given in the next slides.
